Judith of the Plains

By MARIE MANNING.
Author of "Lord Allingham, Bankrupt"

Copyright, 1905, by Harper & Brothers

And presently the bush of the shadowy green world in which Judith lay was broken by a light, sobbing sound. It had been so still that, lying on her bed of pine needles, she had likened it to great waves of silence, rolling up from the valley, breaking over her and sweeping back again, noiseless, green from the billowing ocean of pine branches and sunlight. Judith bent over the rocky ledge and saw a girl making her way down the game trail, disheveled and fearful. Her hat was gone; her pale yellow hair, that in shadow had the greenish tinge of corn silk, blew about her shoulders; her trim skirt was torn and dusty, and she looked about, bewildered, hardly realizing that through the unexpected course of things she had been stranded in this great world of sunlit splendor and loneliness. She closed her eyes. The awful vastness and solitude oppressed her with a deepening sense of calamity. Suppose they never found her? How could she find her way in this endless wilderness about? She sank to the turf and began to cry hysterically.

Judith knew in a flash of instant cognition that this was Miss Colebrooke. Amusement seemed to have dulled her powers of action—amazement that she, who had stolen to this place and crouched close to earth that she might see the triumph of this preferred woman and, having seen and paid her grievous debt, steal away and take up the thread of endless little things that spun for her the web of life, was forced instead to be an unwilling witness of the other's distress. Judith had risen with her first impulse, with a head bent to go to KITTY.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and safe, immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Englehampton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

but halfway through the thicket she hesitated and reconsidered. Undoubtedly Peter would soon come, and Peter's consolation would be more potent than any she could offer. She shrank in shuddering self-consciousness at the thought of her presence at their meeting; the uninvited guest, the outgrown friend and confidante, blundering in at such a time, pitifully full of good intentions. She recoiled from the picture as from a precipice that all unwittingly she had escaped. What madness had induced her to come on this expedition? A sudden panic at the possibility of her discovery possessed her. Suppose Peter should find her skulking like a beggar, waiting for broken meats! She looked at the image of herself that she carried in her heart. It was that of a proud woman, who made no moan at the scourge of the inevitable. Many burdens had she carried in her proud, lonely heart, but of them her lips gave no sign.

In her contemplative stoicism she felt with pride that she was no unworthy daughter of her mother's people, and, catching a glimpse through the trees of the abjectly waiting woman who, though safe and sound, could but wait, wretched and dispirited, for some one to come and adjust her to the situation, Judith felt for her a wondering pity at her helplessness. She waited, expectant, for the sound of Peter's horse. Surely he must come at any moment, overcome with apologies, and she—Judith hid her face in her hands at the thought—she would steal away through the thicket at the first sound of hoofs. But as the minutes slipped by and still no sign of Peter's sickening anxiety began to gnaw at her heart. Had something happened to him?

She did not wait to ask herself the question twice. She crawled the length of the thicket with incredible rapidity, gained the pine forest and made her way beneath the low hanging boughs. Without stopping to protect herself from them she gained the open space and ran quickly to Kitty.

"Are you hurt? What has happened?" Kitty looked up, startled at the voice. She had not heard the sound of the moccasined feet. Her wandering, forlorn thoughts crystallized at sight of the woman before her. A new lightning leaped into her eyes as the recognized Judith. There was between them a thrilling consciousness that gave to their mutual perception a something sharp and fine, that grasped the drama of the moment with the precision and fidelity of a camera.

"You are Miss Rodney, I believe?" Kitty was conscious of something strange in her voice as she looked into the dark eyes, wide with questioning fear. Ah, but she had amazing beauty and a something that seemed of the very essence of deep souled womanliness! The two women presented a fine bit of antithesis—Kitty, flowerlike, small, delicately wrought, the finished product of the town, exotic as some rare transplanted orchid growth. And in Judith there was a gentile quality. It was in the bloom of her skin, the iridescent radiance of her hair, that was bluish, like a plum in sunlight; it was in the warm, red life in her lips, in the pulsing vitality of the slim, brown throat. In every line was sensuous force restrained by spiritual passion.

Kitty told of the accident in which her horse had thrown her and disappeared in the pine fringes, leaving her stunned for a moment or two, and how she had finally pulled herself together and followed what appeared to be a trail in the hope of finding some one.

She dwelt long on the details of the accident. "Yes, but Peter? What has happened him?" Judith chose her words impatiently. She was racked with anxiety at his long delay, and now she hung over Kitty waiting for her answer, without the semblance of a cloak for her alarm.

There was reproach in Kitty's amendment. "I don't know which way Mr. Hamilton's horse went. It started back over the trail, I think."

Judith clasped her hands. "Let us go and look for him. Why do we waste time?" But Kitty hung back. She was shaken from her fall and upset by the events of the morning. Besides, her faith in Peter's ability to cope with all the exigencies of this country was supreme. And chiefest reason of all for her not going was a something within her that winced at the thought of this fellowship that had for its object the quest of Peter.

"Oh, don't you see," pleaded Judith, "that if something had not happened to him he would have been here long ago?"

Judith's anxiety awoke in Kitty a new consciousness. What was she to him that at the possibility of harm, a fear not shared by Kitty, she should throw off a reserve that every line of her face pronounced habitual? In her very energy of attitude, an energy that all unconsciously communicated itself to Kitty, there was the power that belongs to all elemental human emotion—the power that compels. Kitty rose to follow Judith, then hesitated.

"I'm sure nothing has happened him. No, I'm really too unstrung by my fall to walk." She sank again to the boulder on which she had been sitting.

To the woman of the world Judith's ingenuous display of feeling had in its very sincerity a something pitiable. How could she strip from her soul every fold of reserve and stand unloved and unshamed, sanctified, as it were, by the very hopelessness of her passion? How could women make of their whole existence a thing to be rejected, reflected Kitty, who, giving nothing, could not understand? She looked again at the bronzed face beside her, so bold in outline, so expressive in detail. Yes, she was beautiful, and yet what had her beauty availed her? The thought that she herself was the preferred woman throbbed through her for a moment with a sense of exaltation.

The next moment a haunting doubt laid hold of her heart, held up mockingly the little that she and Peter had lived through together, the lofty plane of friendship along which she had tried to lead his unwilling feet sedately, his protests, his frank amusement at her serious pretensions to a career. How much fuller might not have been the intercourse between him and this woman, who in all probability had been his comrade for years? And she had been idealizing him and his love for her and his loneliness! Kitty stood with eyes cast down, while images crowded upon her, leaving her cold and smiling.

"But think," pleaded Judith. "If you don't come it will take me longer to search the trail marks. You could show me just where the horses ran!" Kitty's eyes were still on the ground. She did not lift them, and Judith, realizing that further appeal was but a waste of time, turned and ran swiftly down the trail.

CORONER'S VERDICT

Says Victim of "Frat" Rites Was Bound to Railway Track.

Mt. Vernon, Ohio, Nov. 13.—Bound to the steel rails on a railroad bridge, where he was tied by fellow students who were inflicting him into the mysteries of a Greek letter fraternity, Stuart Pierson was ground to death under the wheels of a railway locomotive.

This was the verdict Coroner Scarborough made public after closing the inquest which has been under way for the last week.

The verdict does not fix the responsibility for the death, but it is expected that the prosecuting attorney will take the case before the grand jury at once. Scarborough finds that "Stuart Pierson met his death by being tied to the tracks or otherwise bound or tied in such a manner that he could not extricate himself from his perilous position, and while so tied or bound was run over by an engine and tender on said railroad bridge."

The engine, says the verdict, struck the boy while he was lying flat between the rails of the main track of the bridge. Pierson was a Kenyon college student who was being initiated into the D. K. E. fraternity. Thirty-three witnesses gave testimony.

VERY MUCH RAFFLES

New York, Nov. 13.—During the absence of the private watchman on guard at Schumann's Sons' jewelry store, Broadway and Twenty-second street, thieves entered the place Sunday and carried away $10,000 worth of silverware. The robbers drove to the store in a handsome carriage with a coachman in livery, and, having noted the departure of the watchman, entered the front door with false keys. The presence of the carriage attracted no attention, and half an hour later the robbers came out, placed their plunder in the carriage and drove away. The robbery was discovered a few minutes later, when the watchman returned and found the door open.

All the silverware was taken from show-cases in the store. An attempt by the robbers to open a safe in the basement containing several hundred thousand dollars' worth of jewelry was unsuccessful.

Count Witte Finding His Task Daily More Difficult.

TO PAY A HEAVY PRICE

Russian Reformers Refusing to Heed the Lessons of History Mark Out Thorny Path to Freedom.

Intelligent Classes Distrustful of the Government and Take Pride in Holding Afloat.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—Sunday passed quietly. No excesses are reported from any part of the city, but the Jews are still apprehensive. Martial law has been abolished in Krenenchug and Tiflis and their districts.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—With each day's developments it becomes more apparent that Russian reformers have learned little of the lessons of history and that Russia is destined like other countries before her, to travel a thorny path to freedom. She seems determined to pay the heaviest price for her political education. This perhaps is not strange considering that all the intelligent classes are engaged in a revolt against the old order of things, the moderatists for the moment clasping hands with the ultra-revolutionists to accomplish the downfall of the autocracy. The result is that all the reform elements are distrustful of the government and take pride in holding aloof as if everybody connected with the government was contaminated and there is no solid conservative element to act as a brake upon those who shrink from no political experiments, no matter how reckless.

The various groups into which the liberals are splitting and even those who advocate the very constitutionalism into which Count Witte is seeking to conduct the government seemingly would rather let the country drift into anarchy than lift a finger to aid him. The leaders display anything but disinterested patriotism, having political ambitions and being convinced that the present is only a stop-gap government until the drama meets. They prefer not to jeopardize their own future by taking office in a government marked for sacrifice, yet they appreciate as does Count Witte, that the old faction that ruled so long at court would like to renew the struggle for reaction, unhorse the new premier and jettison the whole reform program. They admit that Count Witte is the only man in the present stage of transition capable of coping with the court camarilla; nevertheless they refuse to assist him to get a firm seat in the saddle. The danger of reaction is hardly worth serious consideration, however. Even the discomfited advocates of the old regime realize that the emperor's step is irrevocable; that he could not withdraw it if he would, and that any attempt simply to place him in the attitude of a usurper of the people's liberties would precipitate an immediate crash in which he would be sure to lose the throne. Nevertheless the failure of the reform elements to break with the social democrats and co-operate with Count Witte may prove disastrous, which would be apt to provoke a continuance of clashes and excesses and in the end force the government to resort to extreme measures, which being interpreted as a return to the policy of repression, might precipitate uprisings.

AN UPRISING PREDICTED

Martial Law in Poland Fans Long-Smouldering Embers.

Warsaw, Nov. 13.—The proclamation of martial law in the ten governments of Russian Poland has caused surprise and exasperation here, and there are apprehensions that it will provoke disturbances worse than those that have already taken place. The city is panic-stricken. There are persistent rumors of the organization of anti-Jewish riots and the houses of Jews are barricaded and watched day and night. The Jews are arming themselves with knives, revolvers and rifles. Owing to the general strike the distress is hourly increasing. There is a scarcity of coal and food.

Poland is not to be permitted to become a second Finland. The Russian government in a strongly worded communication published this morning serves notice on the Polish Nationalists that for good or ill the ancient kingdom of Poland has now become an integral part of the Russian empire and that while the government intends to observe fully the national rights of Poland, any attempt to wrest Polish autonomy from the emperor would be considered an act of revolt and would lead the Poles into the sorrowful paths trodden by them in 1831 and 1863.

Creditors Will Regain Half.

Lorraine, Ohio, Nov. 13.—It has been announced that a dividend of 50 per cent would be paid creditors of the defunct Citizens Savings bank of this city, which failed March 31. The probate court has ordered the payment of the dividend, and it is expected that all the claims against the bank will be paid in eighteen months.

ANOTHER FIGHT ON Congressman Cromer's Seat Will Again Be Contested.

Indianapolis, Nov. 13.—The Eighth district will be treated to another big fight to defeat Congressman George Cromer of Mendle. Horace G. Stillwell has announced his candidacy for the nomination. Stillwell has been sought to undertake the race for several months, but deferred his decision about the matter until after the city election. He was a candidate for the nomination eight years ago, when Cromer was first nominated. Since then Cromer has been opposed twice and the contests in each case have been vigorous, but each time Cromer won.

Governor Hanly seems to be in position now to cause the final closing of the gambling resorts at French Lick and West Baden within a short time, but he refuses to say whether or not he has given orders to them to quit Dec. 10. "I have been preparing to take steps if they are not closed," he said. "I have been insisting that they must be closed, and I will be glad if they quit business." Several months ago the governor urged the local authorities at French Lick and West Baden to close the places, but they did not interfere. It is said that after several conferences with Attorney General Miller it was then decided to proceed against the gambling houses from this end of the line. At the statehouse it was given out that gambling could be stopped at French Lick under a law giving the auditor of state power to examine business done by a voluntary association. Power is also conferred on him to call on the attorney general to bring injunction proceedings and ask for a receiver or a judgment of ouster by proceedings in quo warranto if he finds that business is being done that is not authorized by law. Attorney General Miller stated several weeks ago that it was his theory that the hotel companies must stop gambling on their premises or go out of business. It is understood that when this proposition was put up to the hotel companies they decided to close the casinos permanently. It is said that Auditor of State Bigler has called on both corporations to stop gambling, and he is backed by the governor and the attorney general.

The picturesque French Lick valley in which two great health resorts are located has been noted for a quarter of a century or longer as a famous gambling center. The volume of business has been so great as to put the two casinos among the largest gambling institutions in the United States. It has been estimated that the play at West Baden amounted annually to $2,000,000 and to $1,000,000 at French Lick. The casinos were started originally as places of amusement for the guests at the hotel, but the business grew to amazing proportions and attracted the sporting element from all parts of the country. One could get almost any kind of a game desired and could play for any stake he cared to name. The places were beautifully furnished and equipped with as fine gambling devices as money could buy. Ed Ballard, who owns the casinos, is said to have made a fortune of nearly $1,000,000 in the last few years. His rise to wealth has been rapid, as it was not long ago that he was doing odd jobs about the hotels, but it is said that he saved a few dollars and took up gambling as a living. He gradually acquired control of the big end of the game and his fortune is said to have grown by leaps and bounds.

Election of road supervisors will be held in all country districts of the state Dec. 16. The present supervisors were elected last January for a two years' term, but the legislature repealed the old law and enacted another providing for an election Dec. 16. In response to inquiries as to whether the present supervisors will serve for two years, Attorney General Miller has rendered an opinion that they will not and that the men elected Dec. 16 will qualify at once for service, the office being statutory and not constitutional.

Mayor-elect Bookwalter and City Chairman Metzger have gone to French Lick to recuperate and get away from the horde of party workers who are looking for jobs under a new administration. Bookwalter will probably appoint Metzger superintendent of the police force.

Related Returns Show That the People Had Their Ideas About Things.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 13.—Complete returns received by the Republican state executive committee show that every candidate on the Republican state ticket, save Governor Myron T. Herrick, has been elected by pluralities varying from 27,000 to 40,000. The plurality of John M. Pattison, the Democratic governor-elect, is placed at 41,000, indicating that Governor Herrick ran about 80,000 behind his ticket. The Democratic state chairman, Harvey Garber, concedes the election of the minor officials on the Republican ticket. He says the senate is Democratic by 19 to 18, and concedes on the face of the returns the election of 61 of the 121 representatives.

He told the authorities that after making one attempt to die he had reconsidered the matter of life and death and had decided to live, though he knew he would be a disgrace to his family. Allen announced to the police that he was short $2,200 in his accounts for the Printers' Beneficial association, which is composed of government printers and of which he is treasurer.

ANY FOOL

Knows enough to carry an umbrella when it rains, but the wise one is he who carries one when it is only cloudy.

Any man who sends for a doctor when he gets bed-fast, but the wise one is he who adopts proper precautionary, preventive and curative measures when a first appear the ills which, if unchecked and uncured, grow into serious illness. Impaired digestion and nutrition are generally the forerunners of a nervous or functional break-down.

Nature has provided remedies most abundantly for all such conditions in our native medicinal plants. With the use of chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength and at a proper sustained temperature, Dr. Pierce's extracts from Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root, medicinal principles which, when combined in just the right proportions, constitute his widely famed "Golden Medical Discovery." It restores the tone of the stomach, the activity of the liver and the steadiness of the nerves, pouring vitality into the blood till the once sick and debilitated one is so renewed in health, strength and power that he can resume his work, whatever it is, with vigor and elasticity.

All medical authorities, of whatever school, agree that Hydrastis, or Golden Seal—one of the essential roots in the make-up of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—is of very great value as a pure tonic, and as an alternative—valuable in chronic affections of the stomach, intestines and bladder.

Not only the Original but the best Little Liver Pills, first put on the market over 40 years ago, by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., have been much imitated but never equaled, as their sands attest. They're purely vegetable, being made up of concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from the roots of American plants. Do not gripe. One or two for stomach corrective, three or four for cathartic.

DOWN at New Albany when a man gets sick he calls in his doctor and tells him that if he must die not to let him die on Friday or Saturday. Any other day in the week better meets local conditions. The reason for this is that the New Albany preachers have entered into a compact not to conduct any Sunday funerals. Not even death is permitted to disarrange their Sunday program. To be sure they will perform marriage ceremonies and find plenty of time for that but not for funerals. This is of necessity causing the people of New Albany to become prejudiced against dying the latter part of the week.

PRESIDENT BRYAN, of Indiana University, says there is too much betting on foot ball games by college students and favors a movement to put a stop to it. Dr. Bryan is correct and colleges should take hold of this proposition and put an end to the gambling part of it. School and college athletics are all right but should be kept in proper bounds. Some reforms are necessary. As to foot ball, or other games between high schools some doubt exists. Many people believe that high school students are too young to go away from home to engage in contests. They do not believe the results are good for the boy. They argue that high school games should be inter-class games and there is much to sustain such a position. Most parents take this view of it.

Ahlbrand Carriage Company Making More Room.

The business of the Ahlbrand Carriage Company has grown to such proportions that more room has become necessary. Therefore workmen will begin this week to enlarge the plant, increasing the floor space very materially.

An addition 18 feet by 60 feet, two stories will be built to the main factory building and work on this will likely begin Tuesday. Besides this a new building, 34 feet by 60 feet, two stories, will be built on Carer street facing west. Both of these will be put up as rapidly as possible.

This factory is a very busy place and the company has already contracted a large amount of work for delivery in the spring. The product of this factory is widely known and the demand for vehicles built here increases each year. This is a valuable industry for our city.

DIED.

PETER—Geo. Peter, an uncle of J. J. Peter and cousin of Geo. Peter and Mrs. Dr. G. G. Graessle, of this city, died at 6 o'clock Saturday night at the Gault House at Louisville. He was born at Rockford and was a brother of J. H. Peter, deceased. He moved with his father to Louisville when a mere lad and has since made that place his residence. The remains were taken to the home of Dr. Lewman, a relative, at Jeffersonville where the funeral services were preached at 2:30 this afternoon. Several from here attended the funeral.

BRINER—David C. Briner, fifty-two years of age, died at his home, 134 West St. Catherine street at Louisville Sunday afternoon after a brief illness of Bright's disease. He was a brother of John Briner, living near Ebenezer, and of Mrs. Abe Lawell of this city. He has for the past ten years been a motorman on Fourth Avenue cars at Louisville and is said by his employers to have been one of the most faithful men ever in the service. John Briner and Abe Lawell went to Louisville this morning to see about the funeral. The remains may be brought here for burial.

DARIES—Mrs. Fred Daries, the wife of Rev. F. Daries, former pastor of the German St. Paul church in this city, died at her home near Vincennes Friday, November 10th. Word was received here and the announcement of her sudden death was made in the German St. Paul church here yesterday. The remains were taken to Indianapolis where the funeral services were preached at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. George Peters, a relative of Mrs. Daries.

WILLMAN—The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willman died at 4 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wettig on Carter street, aged about five months. The funeral services were preached at the residence at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. Philip Schmidt.

Surprised.

At her home on Carter street last evening Miss Edna Westmeyer was surprised by a number of her friends who gathered at her home in honor of her birthday anniversary. The evening was pleasantly given up to games and music, and refreshments were served.

Saved by Dynamite

Sometimes a flaming city is saved by dynamiting space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At W. F. Peter Drug Co. store, price 50 cents and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Easily Raised.

At the Methodist church Sunday $216 were raised in less time than it takes to tell it. The money will be used to purchase coal and to make some needed repairs and the amount is sufficient to meet all demands. The Methodist congregation is well pleased with their new pastor, Rev. H. H. Allen, and the work of the church is progressing under his leadership.

New business in a new way. I am going to handle the very best line of groceries, coffee, tea, spices, Chopman's Baking powders and Extracts at my home in an especially prepared room. No dust. Everything fresh and clean. Let me call and get your orders.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts."

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her menstrual period she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, U.S.A. She writes: "I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at W. F. Peter drug Co; price 50 cents.

Big Load of Corn.

The largest load of corn we ever knew a man to haul with one team was hauled Saturday by Meed Downs. This load weighed out 106 bushels and 14 pounds. He loaded it at Cortland and hauled it to the Hodapp Hominy Mill in this city. The team and wagon belong to Mr. Hodapp. Figure out the weight of such a load and you will at once see that it took a good wagon to stand up under it and a good team to pull it.

A Creeping Death.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores, 25c at W. F. Peter Drug Co.

The Drunkard's Tombstone

reads: "Here lie buried Friendship, Ambition, Self-respect, Health, Hope and Love."

Drink, the old grave-digger, has dug thousands upon thousands of these graves, and is to-day busily engaged in making new ones.

Drink robs men of all their lovable and manly traits of character and leaves nothing but a repugnant, useless husk.

In Drink's graveyard lie buried all that was highest and best of thousands of the world's once-promising men.

Is there some one in whom you are interested that is under the influence of this world-wide curse?

You can regain him. You can free him from his bondage.

White Ribbon Remedy can be administered without the patient's knowledge in tea, coffee, water, milk, or food.

It banishes the appetite for intoxicants forever.

It is recommended by thousands of women whose dear ones have been cured by White Ribbon Remedy.

It is endorsed by prominent clergymen and eminent physicians.

White Ribbon Remedy does its work so surely and swiftly that while the devoted wife, sister or mother looks on, the drunkard is cured—even against his will.

SCROFULA AN AWFUL INHERITANCE

While it is true that Scrofula may be acquired under certain conditions, it is usually inherited. Parents who are related by the ties of blood, or who have a consumptive tendency, or family blood taint of any character, are sure to transmit it to their children in the form of Scrofula. Swollen glands, brittle bones, poor digestion, weak eyes, Catarrh, emaciated bodies and general weak constitutions are the principal ways in which the disease is manifested. The blood has been diseased from birth, and being in this condition cannot properly nourish the body and Scrofula is the result. A hereditary disease like this can only be reached, by a constitutional remedy and nothing equals S. S. S. as a cure for it. It cleanses and strengthens the deteriorated blood, drives out all scrofulous and tubercular deposits, and there is a gradual but sure return to health. S. S. S. supplies to the anemic, lifeless blood the properties necessary to build back to strong, robust health, and does this gently and so thoroughly that no signs of the disease are ever seen in after life. Being purely vegetable S. S. S. is the best remedy for Scrofula; its harmless but healing ingredients enter into the circulation and replace wax-like, bloodless faces with vigorous strength glowing with health. Book with information about Scrofula and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Dangerous to Be Safe.

Detroit, Nov. 13.—James T. Thorburn, president of the William H. Elliott company of this city, accidentally shot and killed his wife at their home on Second avenue. The Thorburn home was robbed recently and at his wife's request Mr. Thorburn brought home a new revolver, to be kept in the house for her protection. Thorburn carefully explained to his wife how the weapon worked and then reloaded it. He noticed a spot of oil on the revolver as he was about to put it away, and undertook to wipe it off. In some manner the cloth caught the trigger and exploded a cartridge, the bullet striking Mrs. Thorburn in the temple and instantly killing her. Mr. Thorburn is nearly crazed over the accident.

Climatic Cures

The influence of climatic condition in the cure of consumption is very much overdrawn. The poor patient and the rich patient, too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food digestion, and a regular use of German Syrup. Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by German Syrup, so is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweat. Restless nights and the exhaustion due to coughing, the greatest danger and dread of consumptive, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup liberally and regularly. Should you be able to go to a warmer climate you will find that of the thousands of consumptives there, the few who are benefited and regain strength are those who use German Syrup. Trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

Prevent As Well As Cure Headache

If subject to headache, take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills when you feel the first indication of an attack, and you will find that they rarely ever fail to stop further progress.

Pain weakens the nerves, and the longer you suffer, the more frequent will be the attacks. On the contrary, if the nerves are relieved of this weakening influence, the attacks will be less frequent, and finally disappear altogether.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills contain no opium, cocaine, morphine or chloral in any form. They are absolutely harmless if taken as directed, and will have no other effect, except to drive out the pain.

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are all right, and I can recommend them to any one in need of a remedy for headache, neuralgia, or pain of any kind. My health is not very good, and I am subject to frequent attacks of severe headache, but since I began taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills I do not suffer from that trouble as I used to. They never fail to give relief in a few minutes, and if taken promptly on the approach of headache will prevent an attack from coming on. Pain Pills prevent, as well as cure."

A SHOCKING DEED

Young Boy In a Fit of Fary Slays His Brother.

ATTACKED WITH KNIFE

Trivial Quarrel Between Two Youngsters Near Booneville Arouses a Demon in the Younger.

After Crying "Enough" He Turned Upon His Brother and Slashed Him With a Knife.

Booneville, Ind., Nov. 13.—In a quarrel at the home of their father near Heilmann, this county, Orville Rhoades, eight years old, stabbed and killed his brother, Clarence Rhoades, aged ten.

The boys were harnessing a horse which their mother had intended to drive to market, when they engaged in a fight. The elder boy threw his brother to the ground and held him down in an effort to conquer him. When Orville promised to give up and the boys regained their feet the younger boy attacked his brother with a knife, inflicting several deep wounds in the abdomen.

Medical aid was summoned, but the injured boy died three hours after the fight occurred. The younger boy is heartbroken over his crime. The boys are the sons of Henry Rhoades, a well-known farmer in the eastern part of this county.

CRIMINAL CHARGES

Now Rest Against W. D. Owen and His Associate.

Indianapolis, Nov. 13.—Great interest is manifested here over the news that indictments have been returned by the grand jury at Boston against former Secretary of State William D. Owen and Ferdinand E. Borges, director and alleged promoter of the Owen Plantation company, and alleged associate of Owen.

The indictments, which are identical, charge that Borges and Owen obtained more than $25,000 by fraud from certain investors in the company. It is alleged that Owen and Borges conspired to bring about the larcenies with which they are charged.

The grand jury's action follows a long investigation by a committee of stockholders of the company, as well as an inquiry pursued by the receivers, who were appointed on petition of the investigating committee.

Borges, who was arrested, was arraigned at once and bonds of $75,000 were imposed by the court to hold him for further hearing. In opposing a motion for a reduction of bail the assistant district attorney reviewed the operations of the Owen company and said that $75,000 was the least amount of bail that should be required in view of the fact that the defendants "reaped half a million dollars by this conspiracy."

W. D. Owen, who is still at large, was secretary of state of Indiana for two terms, 1895-1899. He was immigration commissioner in New York under President Harrison. Previous to entering politics he was a minister in the Christian church at Logansport and was elected to congress from that district for two terms. Borges is also a Logansport man and has served time in the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet as a confidence man.
